FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Alta Labs Networks to Work with OneVision

Hurricane, Utah, November 4th, 2026 - Alta Labs today announces that its networks are now supported by OneVision. OneVision provides 24/7 white-label remote support for custom integrators, delivered without specific technical requirements and entirely under the integrator's brand. With the ProVision service platform, a dedicated Partner Success Manager, and a proven membership model, OneVision helps integrators optimize their time and turn service into recurring revenue.

Alta Labs is working directly with the OneVision team to ensure its 24/7 support team is properly equipped to remotely support Alta Labs networks without imposing strict technical requirements on dealers. With appropriate access to Alta Labs' remote-management tools, dealers can confidently deploy Alta Labs while maintaining professional, scalable remote support.

"Working with OneVision bolsters our goal to provide unparalleled ease-of-use and reliability to our end-users, while providing Network Installers real-time metrics and diagnostics whenever and wherever necessary," says Jeff Hansen, CTO of Alta Labs.

The inclusion of Alta Labs in OneVision's growing list of supported equipment means Alta Labs dealers can rely on OneVision's full spectrum of 24/7 support. Clients get peace of mind, and dealers handle fewer service calls themselves.

Any Alta Labs dealer who signs a new agreement with OneVision by December 18, 2026, receives a $500 credit toward 24/7 white-label support delivered under any dealer's own brand. One credit per company. Existing OneVision partners do not qualify.
